

CLASS 1 NEWS

20th January 2012

On Monday we had a brilliant experience of exploring an ambulance and a paramedic motorbike. Very exciting! We all had a go at filling in an admission form and we realised writing was really important in real life! Thank you so much to Eithnie's mum, Heather for organising it!

This week our focus has been our sense of touch. We had a great time getting incredibly sticky touching and playing with jelly. We've made pop up books and conducted a very interesting experiment to find out the most absorbent material for plasters. We discovered that the fabric we tested would be the most suitable. Year 1 children have written their own super senses hunt stories using lots of wow words (feel free to come in and have a read) and we have all made up and retold a class senses hunt story.

Today, or over the next few days, Year R children will receive an updated learning mat to support their learning at home. Please keep it. If you would like us to laminate it for you, send it back in with 30p please.
